ESSENTIAL QUESTION:

What are the five steps of Joseph Campbell's Hero's Journey?

QUESTIONS:

1: The Departure

Ex: The Hobbit

2: The Initiation

Ex: Hunger Games

3: Road of Trials

Ex: Harry Potter—chess

4: Inner Most Cave:

5: The Return

NOTES:

-Movement from Ordinary to/known world to extra-ordinary/unknown world

-The hero commits to moving forward to embark on his/her journey

-The hero realizes they are no longer in the "known world"

-It usually is the first obstacle in the new unknown world or the first lesson learned by the hero

-The hero may also meet a mentor/helper, usually someone older that can guide them.

- This is the step where the hero encounters many obstacles and situations he or she must fight or overcome.

- Happens in the extraordinary/unknown world

- After the hero enters the extraordinary world, he or she is tested greatly, meeting new allies and enemies, eventually leading up to the innermost cave

- He or she may encounter doubt or feelings of uncertainty/lack of confidence

- Movement from the extraordinary/unknown world to the ordinary/known world

- After claiming whatever reward is made available after the ordeal, the hero begins the journey back home with the treasure/reward

- There may be an additional test/tests on the way back home and all conflicts are resolved
